IN-SERVICE TRAINING & EXHIBIT LOCATION

KI Convention Center
333 MAIN STREET
GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN 54301

We look forward to having you attend the 45th Annual IABTI International In-Service Training and New Technology Exposition & Exhibitor Show to be held in Green Bay, Wisconsin. The Green Bay KI Convention Center will be the official site. This year's program will focus on case studies from around the globe as well as additional training on diverse subjects that will appeal to all of the disciplines that make up the membership of the IABTI. This, combined with an exhibition and showcase of the latest equipment and technology, promises to be dynamic and informative. So plan your trip now to join us in Green Bay!

IABTI BUSINESS MEETING

In conjunction with the training, IABTI will be holding its annual business meeting. All members are encouraged to attend. The agenda will be posted on the IABTI website as soon as it is available.

PRESENTATIONS

IABTI's 2017 International In-Service Training and expo consists of comprehensive training, case study presentations, and R&D for those whose work or business involves anti-terrorism, explosives disposal, or explosives investigation. The IABTI strives to ensure that the presentations are relevant.

The in-service training daily schedule and speakers will be posted on the website as they continue to confirm. Our speakers typically have official duties which may require them to respond to unforeseen incidents. Therefore, the program is subject to change without notice. In the event that a speaker is required to cancel, IABTI will make every effort to substitute another qualified speaker on the same or related subject.

Watch this space for updates to the daily training schedule, confirmed exhibitors and speaker information.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND:

In a world where we're bombarded with email, it's disproportionately effective to connect with people face to face. Attending a relevant training event (and accompanying expo) can be one of the best ways to accelerate this process, since you can meet multiple people in just a few days. Attendance at this In-Service and Expo not only affords you access to top experts and those with expertise in the explosive and investigative communities, but also allows you to build these outside relationships. Time and time again, it's proven that sharing your real life experience and knowledge instills confidence, thereby motivating you to improve yourself and better serve your agency.

Even if you're the Commander of a fairly large squad and it's likely that you'll never wear the bomb suit or process a scene again, you should take advantage of these in-service hours. Be the first one to suggest attendance, the one to submit for approval; sit in the front row, or encourage your team to do so. When officers see the boss going to or getting excited about in-service training, they are more likely to do the same. Not all in service training is tactical in nature. You owe it to yourself and your career. If your department won't send you, negotiate: if you pay for the class, will they give you the training days? It IS worth your time.

WHAT IS INCLUDED:

- Forty hours of in-service training; presentations and case studies in lecture style format.
- Access to the Exhibit Hall and more than 80 booths offering equipment, training, and tools for those in the greater explosives community.
- Meals included: Lunch Monday through Thursday and the Banquet Dinner on Wednesday evening

EQUIPMENT/TECHNOLOGY

We're expecting a PACKED
HOUSE!
June 12-16, 2017

The IABTI International In Service Exposition is simply the best. We bring together the latest in technology, services, training, and SMEs for the explosives community, all under one roof. Our Exhibitors exemplify what the IABTI stands for. By fostering the exchange of explosive related information and solutions, this is the technology expo you can't afford to miss. You owe it to your safety, and that of your squad, to check out the latest comprehensive collaboration of technology and equipment. The personal interaction afforded by this Exposition is irreplaceable and cannot be replaced by electronic means. The opportunity for research and development for your department is paramount and unrivaled.
